Abstract of Disclosure

A reference channel is coupled to a device under test and measurements are made at the output of the reference channel.